WELCOME to LETHBRIDGE

Endless Skies, Wide-open Spaces, and Big Fun

Lethbridge is the windy city flourishing with possibilities in Southern Alberta. Discover unique flavors in a thriving agri-food scene, amazing local culture, incredible attractions, expansive scenery and 4 UNESCO World Heritage Sites only a day trip away. Lethbridge is your hub for fun in Southern Alberta.

At the Tourism Lethbridge Visitor Information Centre (VIC)—2805 Scenic Dr. S—you can stop in to find all the information you need on the fantastic local food and attractions we have to offer. The site hosts a SANI-DUMP for those who are travelling in a motorized home, and bathrooms both inside the center and outside—seasonally—for those travelling without a motorized home. Looking for souvenirs? Pickup a postcard, or purchase a travel poster in our VIC! We also recommend the shops at the Galt Museum and the SAAG.

We love seeing how people are exploring our region. Share your Southern Alberta experience—visiting an attraction, having fun outdoors, eating local food—on social media and tag your post with #ExploreLethbridge. We share our favourites on our own channel and website. Don't worry, we'll ask permission first. Share your photos with #ExploreLethbridge!

INDIGENOUS LETHBRIDGE

Written by Rebecca Many Grey Horses.

From the Blood Tribe, she has worked with the Galt Museum & Archives (page 16), which is called Akaisamitohkanao'pa in Blackfoot. This means an eternal gathering place.

Blackfoot Territory

“Ksahkominoon,” our land as described, is the Blackfoot Traditional ancestral territory that extends along the east side of the Rocky Mountains from the Yellowstone River in Southern Montana, up towards the North Saskatchewan River in Canada, east into the southwestern part of Saskatchewan, Canada. The Nitistapii (Blackfoot) believe they have always lived in this area since time immemorial, and their history speaks of their creation, stories, and constant relationship to the land.

The Blackfoot continue to live today, as they always have, on what continues of their ancestral homeland. There are three nations that comprise the Blackfoot Confederacy: one reservation in Northern Montana, Amsskaapiikani, and three reserves in Southern Alberta, the Kainai, Pikanii, and Siksika.

The Blackfoot had many places where they convened for sacred ceremonies, with prayers and fasting, to connect with the spiritual realm. There are thousands of sacred places throughout Blackfoot Territory. The Blackfoot passed this knowledge of the past through oral tradition, and other evidence comes through artifacts and those remaining landmarks which have survived the settlement of the prairies. Medicine wheels, tipi rings, rock formations, pictographs, rock writings, effigies, buffalo jumps, pounds and cairns provide historical clues to the past of the Blackfoot people.

Many of these places have been destroyed, and these sites are viewed as being just rocks or cairns to the settlers. Unfortunately, disrespect for these historical and sometimes sacred sites continues to the present day, despite efforts to protect them.

Blackfoot Sacred Sites

The following are the most important sacred sites to the Blackfoot; they are used for vision-seeking sites, fasting, ceremonies, the place to gather medicinal plants, and some have springs considered sacred water with spiritual energy. Ninastako (Chief Mountain) is considered to be one of the most sacred mountains, Omahkai'stoo (Crownsnest Peak), Paahtómahksik (Waterton Lakes National Park), Kátoyissiksi (Sweetgrass Hills), Cypress Hills, Áisina'i'pi (Writing-on-Stone Provincial Park) are other sacred sites that hold many stories and landmarks of ancient ceremonies. Many of these sites are still revered and honoured, ceremonies still take place there, and plant medicines are still harvested in the areas by the Blackfoot and other First Nations.

To learn more about Niitsitapissksahkoyi (Blackfoot Territory), sacred sites, medicine wheels, and get links to more Blackfoot sites, scan the QR code on this page.

THE HIGH-LEVEL BRIDGE LETHBRIDGE VIADUCT

The iconic Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco or the Sydney Harbour Bridge define their cities: The Lethbridge Viaduct is no different! Known locally as the High-Level Bridge, it has framed views of the city for over a century. Its black steel trestles contrast the golden sheen of the rolling coulee hills and the Oldman River Valley.

The Lethbridge Viaduct was constructed by the Canadian Pacific Railway (CPR) from 1907 - 1909 at the cost of over 1.3 million dollars. It has played a vital part in Lethbridge's and the region's history. While locals know all about it, the High-Level Bridge isn't nearly as famous as some of its counterparts, making this hidden gem truly a sight to see.

Serving as a local landmark, the Lethbridge Viaduct has greeted visitors to the city for over 110 years. It is not only the longest, but also the highest steel railway trestle bridge in the world, reaching over 1.6 km in length and 100 meters in height. The Lethbridge Viaduct is one of the construction wonders of the world.

This bridge is truly a visual marvel! Many have admired the bridge's monumental architecture that spans across the coulees, but they may not have considered the history behind it. Find incredible archival construction photos and learn more about the bridge at the Galt Museum & Archives and for more information, head over to our website TourismLethbridge.com/major-attractions/high-level-bridge!

Lethbridge Viaduct Facts

- The Lethbridge train trestle bridge is not just visually impressive; it is huge!
- It's the longest and highest bridge of its kind in the world.
- 5,327 feet in length
- 314 feet high
- The Government of Canada designated the bridge construction a National Historic Event.

Best Places for a Picture with the Bridge:

- Helen Schuler Nature Centre
- Galt Museum & Archives
- River Valley park and trails

Craft Beer

Lethbridge has a long and storied brewing history that is as rich as a stout is dark. In 1901, Fritz Stick started the Alberta Brewing Company and created the Old-Style Pilsner. While no longer brewed in Lethbridge, it's still being enjoyed across the prairies. Today, new craft brewers are taking on the local tradition and are brewing up traditional and approachable beers, and experimenting with the latest styles. Start sipping in Lethbridge!

Theoretically Brewing

Theoretically Brewing

1263 2 Ave S Lethbridge AB

With their inventive and innovative brews, the team behind Theoretically Brewing is creating some of the most scientifically sound and delicious beers in Southern Alberta. The periodic table style labels hint at their roots in the University of Lethbridge Chemistry department. They've combined an interest in the scientific method and natural small-batch brews. Their Warehouse District tasting room (and dog-friendly patio) is the perfect spot to discover craft beer!

Henderson Lake Golf Club

GOLF - WHERE BIRDS & BEASTS MEET BOGIES & BIRDIES

Golf in Lethbridge

Lethbridge is a golfers paradise! You'll find a wide variety of golf options that fit every budget and skillset. The coulees, or what we locals call the river valley, is an incredible place to play at your own pace or challenge your game.

For more Lethbridge golfing information and links to these links, scan the QR code on this page.

Paradise Canyon Golf Resort

Nestled in the hills and cliffs of the Old Man River, Paradise Canyon Golf Resort is waiting to challenge your game and expectations of what a golf resort can be. There's a reason it's Southern Alberta's #1 rated golf course! A clubhouse, driving range, and onsite accommodations complete the experience.

Henderson Lake Golf Course

Test your accuracy as you navigate fairways, water hazards and sand traps at this classic course! This welcoming 18-hole, par 70 golf course is excellent for all skill levels. Not to mention the picturesque views of the lake that can be seen from the course. Wind down at the onsite Henderson Grill or head next door for a relaxing stroll through Nikka Yuko Japanese Garden.

Evergreen Golf Centre

This 9-hole, par-3 course is a fun two hours of play. Practice your swing all year long at this golf facility's award-winning driving range! Or indulge your inner child with a round of mini-golf.

Bridge Valley Golf Course

Nestled in the coulees, north of the High-Level Bridge, this 9-hole, par 3 course tees up a relaxed, family-friendly game. The 18-hole mini-putt offers views that are anything but mini! Experienced golfers will love the driving range and the chance to improve their shorthand.

Picture Butte Golf Club

Drive a short distance north of Lethbridge to 27 holes of picturesque golf at Picture Butte Golf Club. The well-maintained site offers three combinations of play. No matter your handicap, get ready for an enjoyable day of golf.

Lethbridge Golf and Country Club

Designed by legendary course architect Stanley Thompson, this course is one of Alberta's five historic golf clubs. Included here in light of its prestige, visitors to Lethbridge should be aware that this is a private club and requires an invitation to play. It may be worth moving to Lethbridge to play here!

Hell's Creek Golf & FootGolf Course - Raymond

Is it hot here, or it it just Hell's Creek? This course packs the beauty and amenities of 18-holes into 9. If swinging clubs isn't your thing, try your hand (or feet for that matter) at FootGolf!

Magrath Golf Club

A half-hour drive to the east outside of Lethbridge, and you'll find yourself in Magrath and close to the amazing Magrath Golf Club. This astounding 18-hole course has been a player favourite since golfers first got the green light to take on these greens in 1925. At 6,300 yards, it may not be long by today's standards, but it is a great hidden gem of Southern Alberta golfing.

Lee Creek Valley Golf Course - Cardston

For more than 115 years, Cardston has taken immense pride in their historical preservation, and they preserve their golf course just as well. This amazing course in Cardston is just one more reason for the people of the town to be proud. With 18 holes of impeccable looking greens, elevation changes, and some demanding 300-yard par 3's, this is an incredible place to play a round.

Waterton Lakes Golf Club - Waterton Lakes National Park

There are few courses in North America that are as scenic, historic, and affordable as the Waterton Lakes Golf Club. Constructed in 1929, this 18-hole gem rests in the shadows of the rocky mountain peaks Waterton is known for. Stanley Thompson designed this course to be a beautiful and breathtaking experience and less of a championship experience.

Crowsnest Pass Golf Course

Crowsnest Pass Golf Course is rocky mountain golf at its finest. First opened in 1918, it has always been recognized as a beautiful and enjoyable course to play. Under the careful eye of Gary Browning, 8 new or redesigned holes have been implemented into the course. The course also recently renovated their greens, creating a new and exciting golfing experience for those both familiar with and new to the course.

Evergreen Golf Centre

Lethbridge College - Disc Golf Course

Fort Macleod Golf Course

In 1890, the Fort Macleod Golf Course became the first course built between the West Coast and Winnipeg. Did we mention that this is where the Prince of Whales teed up in 1924? Be a part of the heritage. Then, get refreshed at the Stronghold Brewery tasting room. Learn more about the Highway 3 Ale Trail on pg 8-9.

These courses form what esteemed golf writer Michael Cunningham has named the Heavens Breath Golf Trail. It's a nice way of thinking of those blustery Southern Alberta days while on the links! Find links to these fantastic courses and more by scanning the QR code on p.10.

Disc Golf in Lethbridge

In addition to the diverse collection of golf courses in our area, Lethbridge is also home to multiple disc golf courses.

Nicholas Sheran Park is home to the largest course. Other courses can be found at Lethbridge College (LCSA Campus Disc Golf Course), the University of Lethbridge (Aperture Disc Golf Course), or Peenaquim Park (Lethbridge West Lions Club Disc Golf Course).

Waterton-Glacier International Peace Park

UNESCO WORLD HERITAGE SITES

Writing-On-Stone Provincial Park

There are 6 UNESCO World Heritage Sites in Alberta. 4 of them are just a day trip from Lethbridge! These attractions range from cloud-tickling rocky mountain peaks to otherworldly badland landscapes. You can walk amongst dinosaur fossils or get an unparalleled introduction to over 6,000 years of Indigenous history and culture at an award-winning Interpretive Centre.

Waterton Lakes National Park / Paahtómahksikimi

Less trafficked than Banff or Jasper National Parks, but equally astounding, Waterton Lakes is not only a UNESCO site but the very first International Peace Park. Hikers will rejoice at the options, like the jaw-dropping Crypt Lake hike. It's for the adventurous only!

Those who prefer to 'go deeper' can scuba dive in Emerald Bay, exploring the wreckage of 'Gertie,' an old paddle wheeler.

If taking it easy is your speed, hit up Pat's or Blakiston & Co. for an e-bike rental. The townsite shops and restaurants are great. Drives to Red Rock Canyon or Cameron Lake are more than worth it.

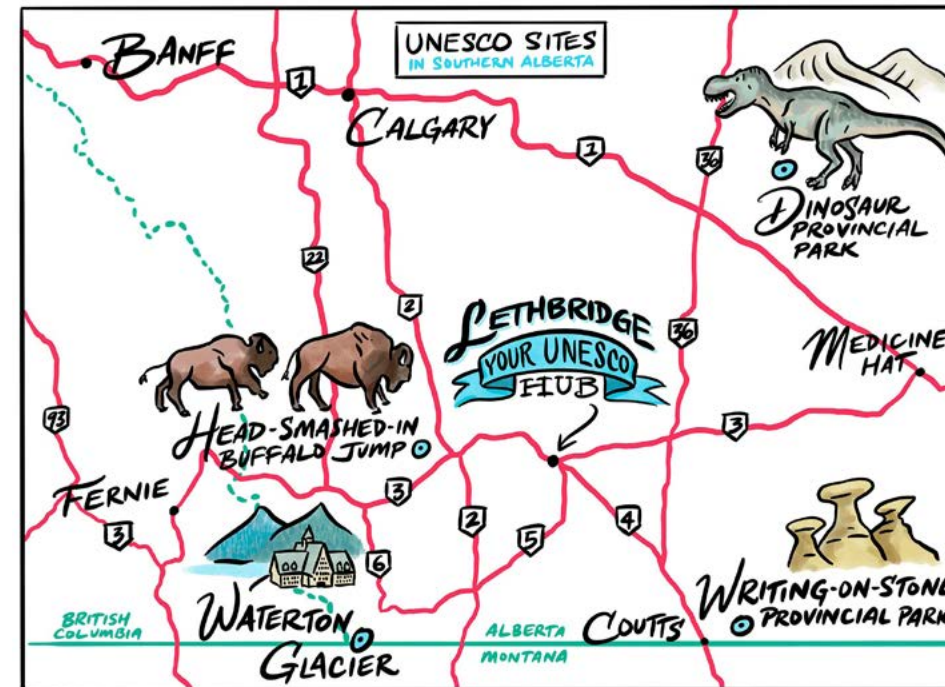

Head-Smashed-In Buffalo Jump / Estipah-skikikini-kots

The migrations of the buffalo herds were integral to the lives of the Indigenous Peoples of the Northwestern Plains. You can discover the significance of Buffalo Jumps through exhibits on culture, archaeology, and the 6,000 years of history inhabiting this site.

From Lethbridge, the 45-minute drive crosses prairies and coulees via the town of Fort Macleod. While not nearly as old as the Jump, the town centre boasts historic buildings and the Fort Museum of the Northwest Mounted Police and First Nations Interpretive Centre. Enjoy the Northwest Mounted Police musical ride in the summer.

Try paddleboarding in Waterton

Lethbridge is the Hub for four UNESCO Sites in Southern Alberta

Writing-On-Stone / Áisínai'pi

Called Áisínai'pi in Blackfoot, this site is spiritually significant to the Blackfoot people. A visit here is your chance to see ancient rock art and towering sandstone pillar hoodoos up close and in person. Wandering through the site, it doesn't take long to feel the power of the place. A visitor centre and guided hikes introduce visitors to the site and its integral role in the culture of the Indigenous Peoples of the Northwestern Plains.

This site is a spiritual destination, so please respect the site and its landscape accordingly.

Head-Smashed-In Buffalo Jump

Dinosaur Provincial Park

Dinosaur lovers staying in Lethbridge should know that Dinosaur Provincial Park has some of the richest dinosaur fossil beds in the world. This alien-looking landscape is world-renowned for its abundant fossils, riverside cottonwood groves, and stunning badlands. No matter how much you like dinosaurs, you'll dig up some interesting information at their interpretive centre. The Park is a field site for the Royal Tyrell Museum.

Each summer, the Carriage House Theatre presents a pair of live theatre performances in this historic theatre. Catching a show is the perfect end to a daytrip to Waterton. CarriageHouseTheatre.com

Travel Tip

Hikers rejoice! National Geographic named the trail to Crypt Lake in Waterton one of the world's most thrilling hikes. Get ready for a natural mountain tunnel, skinny rock ledges and views all day long. While this hike may take a full day, completing it gives you serious bragging rights!

GALT MUSEUM & ARCHIVES AKAISAMITOHKANAOP'PA

The Galt Museum & Archives (Akaisamitohkanao'pa) holds significant portions of Lethbridge's history within its walls! From the history of our land and its people before the great coal rush to each and every development since the first pickaxe broke coal in our coulees, the Galt Museum has all the nitty-gritty details that have settled with the dust on the history of Lethbridge's past.

Since the opening of the Galt Museum in 1964, the museum has worked to inspire and educate the community and create a wealth of archival information on the city and region. They have helped paint a more fulsome and vibrant picture of our past. They are not only the keepers of our past but hold the keys to our future! On April 26, 2022, the Galt Museum & Archives had the honour to receive a Blackfoot name: "Akaisamitohkanao'pa" meaning an eternal gathering place!

Take a stroll through Discovery Hall to learn about the importance of coal and agriculture in Lethbridge and Alberta. Learn about the historic Lethbridge Viaduct's construction and the many iconic stores and businesses of downtown past. The Discovery Hall also hosts rotating exhibits that feature information about local and national history as well as beautiful interactive and vibrant educational displays.

After strolling through the exhibits, you can take a moment and enjoy the coulees from the Galt Viewing Gallery! Take in the panoramic view of the beautiful and expansive natural coulee landscape and our historic bridge. From there, you can head outside and enjoy some of the outdoor learning spaces or the courtyard.

Fun Fact: Did you know that the brick wall in the courtyard is the only remaining wall of the original Galt Hospital structure? It was built even before the newer hospital the front of the museum is housed in!

The Galt also features an incredible gift shop where you can find all sorts of unique Lethbridge-themed souvenirs. Made from local creators, many of the items in this shop speak to the local spirit we try to cultivate in Lethbridge! You can also find books on the history and culture of both Lethbridge and the greater Southern Alberta region.

If there was something that you really loved learning about in Discovery Hall, you might want to take a print copy home with you! Temporary rotating exhibits occasionally have print versions for sale in the gift shop as well. While the books can differ in length and contents, they frequently mirror directly what is in the exhibits.

For opening hours and current exhibition information, go to GaltMuseum.com

The Galt is home to extensive archives

FORT WHOOP-UP

What is now known as Southern Alberta has long been the homelands of the Niitsitapi (Blackfoot). Their traditional ways of life included nomadic living, following herds of bison across the plains. In 1870, Alfred B. Hamilton and John J. Healy set up a trading post at the meeting of the St. Mary and Belly (now Oldman) Rivers called Fort Hamilton that later became known as Fort Whoop-Up. This spot was a traditional wintering site for the Siksikaitsitapi (Blackfoot Confederacy). The buffalo robe and whisky trade brought tremendous change to Niitsitapi social and cultural life.

While the bison roamed the prairies in great herds, the European demand for buffalo robes brought the animal close to extinction. Traders made fortunes from trading buffalo robes for firearms, blankets, and whisky. The "whisky" they traded for wasn't really whisky as it might contain anything from chewing tobacco to burnt sugar. Due to this, it was often called "firewater." One to two litres of this were traded for one robe.

In 1873, Prime Minister Macdonald announced the formation of the North-West Mounted Police (NWMP) to enforce Canadian laws in the West and close down the whisky trade. As the NWMP approached, some traders fled to Montana; others rebranded as legiti-mate traders, later becoming politicians or legal businessmen. When the NWMP arrived at Fort Whoop-Up on October 9, 1874, they found a nearly abandoned fort with no whisky in sight.

However, the buffalo robe trade continued until the near extinction of the bison in the late 1800s. Already struggling with epidemics like smallpox and tuberculosis, the Niitsitapi were devastated by the loss of the bison and the effects of alcohol. The Tsuu T'ina, Stoney-Nakoda, and Siksikaitsitapi nations signed Treaty 7 in 1877. The Niitsitapi were resilient, with a strong traditional culture despite ongoing oppression. The Southern Alberta landscape was transformed in the 1890s by railways, farms, irrigation and permanent settlements. Furthermore, the naturally changing flow of the Oldman River has eroded the original site of Fort Whoop-Up.

On October 28, 1963, the Fort's original location was declared a National Historic Site of Canada and in 1967, a reconstruction of the Fort was erected in the river valley. Today, the Fort Whoop-Up facility and staff continue to tell the challenging story of the brief but formative period of the buffalo robe and whisky trade in Southern Alberta and its impact on Niitsitapi social and cultural life.

A VIBRANT ARTS SCENE - CASA & ULAG

SAAG / MAANSIKSİKAITSIITAPIITSINIKSSIN

Lethbridge is home to a “rich visual art community.” That’s straight from the mouth of Josephine Mills, the curator of the University of Lethbridge Art Gallery! Our city is home to numerous galleries, cultural centres, as well as countless artists.

Along with the art stops profiled here, don’t miss the nature and environmental-themed exhibitions in the Helen Schuler Nature Centre gallery. It’s naturally different!

Or, try a public art walking tour — scan the QR code on pg 3 to download the Driftscape app.

Casa

In Lethbridge, Casa is home to many fantastic works of local art, and an incubator for future works of art. Casa features many public artworks and gallery spaces throughout the centre open to the public to explore and discover. Along with a wide range of community programming, the building offers studio access and rehearsal space for artists and performers to perfect their art. Whether you want to stop into The Gallery, catch a lively performance from a local group, or get inspired in an art class, there is something for everyone’s artistic instincts at Casa.

NIKKA YUKO JAPANESE GARDEN

Konnichiwa and welcome to Nikka Yuko Japanese Garden, a taste of authentic Japanese culture in the very heart of Lethbridge! Tea ceremonies, meditation activities, and a traditional rock garden reveal tranquillity in the city's center, while daily programming — such as Sumo Sundays, Anime Saturdays and Gin & Juniper sessions — buzz with energy!

Traditional yukatas

Established in 1967 for Canada's Centennial, Nikka Yuko celebrates those of Japanese ancestry in Southern Alberta. Designed by master garden architect Tadashi Kubo and featuring components built by artisans in Kyoto, the Garden showcases the friendship between Japan and Canada. The name Nikka Yuko is itself a harmonious melding of the cultures that meet in the Garden — Nihon (Japan), Kanada (or Canada), and Yuko (friendship).

As you walk along the paths, you'll see Southern Alberta landscapes — magnificent mountains, tumbling rivers, and placid lakeshores — mixed with traditional Japanese elements. Each aspect maintains the balance of the Garden.

Each season offers new reasons to visit. In May, the Garden opens, as do many flowers. Warm summer days are the perfect time to contemplate the waterfall from the veranda. Fall brings warm colours as nature prepares for the coming cold. The Garden makes up for missing blossoms in winter with a vibrant Winter Light Festival.

The year 2023 blossoms with exciting new experiences coming to life with the Bunka Centre, which has just opened at Nikka Yuko Japanese Garden. Stop in and take a moment to rest — enjoy the virtual fish pond, exhibits about Japanese Canadians and grab a drink or sweet treat at Cleo's Cafe! NikkaYuko.com

23 Free Things to Do in Lethbridge

Cool off at Legacy Spray Park

Fun Fact for Kids:

Although our city has a REALLY BIG bridge, Lethbridge got its name from William Lethbridge, a coal mine owner.

See Turtles at Elizabeth Hall Wetlands

You may not expect to find them in Lethbridge - but head down to the Elizabeth Hall Wetlands to see an abundance of Western Painted Turtles! The turtles are native to the Milk River basin, and while the folks at the nearby Helen Schuler Nature Centre (Page 29) aren't exactly sure how they got to this specific spot, there are many who reside there! Every spring, when the ponds thaw and warm weather returns, so do the turtles. There's a viewing platform on the northeast side of the wetlands so you can admire them sunning themselves.

Get a "Lethbridge Presents" Pass

On your next visit to any Chinook Arch Regional Library, inquire about the "Lethbridge Presents" pass that will allow you to visit several Lethbridge attractions for free, including SAAG, The Galt Museum & Archives, and more. There's a limited number each month, some "reservations" for tickets put people into a monthly draw for them, whereas others are placed on hold - like a library book!

Spruce up Your Profile Photos with Some Iconic Selfies

The High-Level Bridge (Page 5) is a defining feature in the Lethbridge cityscape and a can't-miss photo opportunity. The easiest place to get a good shot of your face in front of the bridge would be at Indian Battle Park, however, the best place to get the ultimate bridge selfie would be to get higher up on the coulee to maximize the angle. There are scenic benches positioned at ideal spots for bridge viewing throughout the city, such as off the Bull Trail parking lot in west Lethbridge or behind the Galt Museum & Archives (Page 16). While you're at the museum, don't miss the train wheel sculpture called "A Departure", which is also iconic in Lethbridge and makes for a great photo op!

ALBERTA BIRDS OF PREY NATURE CENTRE

The Alberta Birds of Prey Foundation brings the beauty of wild birds to you while helping protect the diverse species of birds of prey that call our province home. This non-profit started as a passion project when a husband and wife began taking care of injured birds of prey. Over time they have built the facility to what it is today. At the centre, you can enjoy a wide variety of visual and hands-on experiences that you won't be able to find anywhere else in Southern Alberta!

The Alberta Birds of Prey Foundation's main goal is to help educate the public on our native birds of prey and provide an engaging hands-on experience for people of all ages. Not only visually striking, but these birds are also an essential part of our ecosystem.

One of the most beloved parts of the sanctuary is the chance to feed the horde of domestic ducks that call the sanctuary home! Grab a bag of feed from the gift shop and watch your step because the ducks will be flocking to you in no time! Whether you throw it all in one go or carefully toll it out, the ducks won't leave until you do.

From there, why not head over to the Hawk Walk where you will find multiple species of eagles and hawks. These magnificent birds are often rare to see out in the wild, making this an excellent stop for avid bird watchers to get a chance to see these beautiful birds up close and personal. Even better is, if you're lucky, they might let you hold one!

Once you have had a chance to meet some of the bigger birds, you can admire some of the smaller ones in the outdoor enclosures. Many of our native prairie species can be found within! While they may be in smaller spaces than the great expanse of nature, these birds are well taken care of and rehabilitated by the hard working and dedicated staff at the Alberta Birds of Prey Foundation.

Finally, check out the outdoor auditorium, where you can watch these majestic birds take flight with daily flight demonstrations! Watch the birds soar through the air and then back down to earth where they can retrieve their meals. You might not even see the same bird fly twice with their wide array of bird species!

The Alberta Birds of Prey Foundation also features a natural history centre that works to educate those that walk through their doors about our natural history and what the landscape and make-up of the land around us can mean. It also features a large eagle aviary that is home to two eagles!

Take a flight on the wild side and learn all there is to know about our fine feathered friends at the Alberta Birds of Prey Foundation. For more information on the centre and Lethbridge's other amazing main attractions, head over to BurrowingOwl.com.

Lethbridge Nature Reserve PARKS

Lethbridge Parks

One big reason Lethbridge is such a liveable city and a breath of fresh air for visitors is all the parks! So whether you're exploring the coulees or wandering some of the 200 km of trails connecting the city to nature, the outdoors is always great in Lethbridge!

Learn more about parks in Lethbridge by downloading the Lethbridge Parks App for Apple or Android!

To book a picnic shelter, visit Leisure.Lethbridge.ca

River Valley Parks

If there wasn't already enough to love about the river valley of Lethbridge, the fantastic parks are just the cherry on top! Enjoy 5.0 km of river-bottom trails, a natural playground, and several picnic areas — both booked and drop-in options are available. It's also home to the Fort Whoop-Up Interpretive Centre (page 17). Stop for a picnic, and explore for hours!

Pavan Park

Pavan Park is a natural escape without travelling far! Pavan Park delivers 125 hectares of birdsongs, river paths, and magnificent nature at the city's northern edge. You'll find 10 km of walking and hiking trails, plus playgrounds, horseshoe pits, picnic areas, volleyball, and equestrian trails.

Legacy Park

You'll find Lethbridge's newest park on the north side of the city. Burn off steam on the playgrounds, challenge course, and over 6 km of paved and natural trails. Get competitive on the many pickleball courts, enjoy a basketball game, or challenge the skateboard park. Then, cool off at the spray park or relax at one of the picnic shelters. Legacy Park delivers hours of family fun!

Henderson Lake Park

With its 24-hectare constructed lake, Henderson Lake is one of Lethbridge's oldest and grandest outdoor spaces. Groves of mature trees offer shade, while picnic shelters, playgrounds and over 7 km of pathways keep families entertained. The park is also close to Nikka Yuko Japanese Garden (page 23), Spitz Stadium, and the Agri-Food Hub & Trade Centre (Page 34).

Nicholas Sheran Park

This is one of Lethbridge's largest parks. Enjoy a beautiful constructed lake, a great pathway system, and Canada's longest disk golf course. Families will appreciate the large playground, fitness equipment, an edible orchard, and a small picnic shelter. The park is also home to Nicholas Sheran Leisure Centre, with ice rinks and a pool.

Popson Park

The Oldman River, flat prairies, views of the stunning coulees — Popson Park is bursting with nature in every corner. This epic, wild park offers a boat launch, covered picnic shelters provided for social events. This is also home to the Oldman River Observatory.

Cottonwood Park

Named for its extensive cottonwood forest, Cottonwood Park is one of Lethbridge's City Preservation Areas. Visitors will appreciate the natural grasslands, coulees, and forests. It's also a natural habitat for prairie wildlife species, including the Prairie Rattlesnake. Like Pavan and Popson parks, this is nature in its purest form!

EXPLORE HELEN SCHULER NATURE CENTRE

Complete your trip to Lethbridge with a visit to the Helen Schuler Nature Centre. Here you will find lots of free outdoor experiences, as well as highly interactive and immersive indoor exhibits, making it a perfect launch point for a kid-friendly outing. The Nature Centre is a must-see stop for adults too! The building's stunning architecture and environmental design is interesting to explore. Community art exhibitions and on-site naturalists are guaranteed to make your trip memorable.

The Helen Schuler Nature Centre is the place to go for discovering what makes Lethbridge special and unique. It is also an excellent location for capturing those epic vacation, or staycation, photos that you will love to look back on.

Whether you are into things with feathers, fur, scales, or leaves, or everything in between, the Nature Centre has something you are sure to enjoy. For geography and ecology buffs, the Centre's permanent exhibit provides the perfect backdrop. You will find a variety of indoor displays and galleries, all with different nature-focused themes. Info and hands-on educational tools will provide everything you need to get out and better understand our shared backyard.

For art enthusiasts, the Helen Schuler

Nature Centre hosts a vibrant community art gallery program. Both emerging and established local artists curate exhibitions here, with new exhibits arriving every 6 – 8 weeks. Art collectives, such as the Textile Surface Design Guild and the Lethbridge Artists Club commonly host exhibits at the Nature Centre, while also offering unique workshop opportunities for visitors to participate in.

Guided walks and group tour experiences are available. These are a great way to get that personal, one-on-one experience while enjoying memorable opportunities for learning with the land.

If the trails are what is calling you, the staff and volunteer naturalists are happy to make recommendations. This local perspective is a great way to ensure you get the most out of your trip. The Nature Centre, located within minutes of Downtown Lethbridge, is situated on a 200-acre nature preservation park, with cottonwood forests, coulees and the iconic High Level Bridge perched right at the doorstep. Lethbridge has a lot of parks. In fact, we boast one of the highest, park-space per capita in Canada, with hundreds of kilometres of trails to explore.

No stop in the river valley is complete without heading up to the rooftop garden at the Helen Schuler Nature Centre, where you can sit back and take a moment to relax. The unique perspective, from the canopy of the forest, allows you to enjoy the sounds of the river valley. While you enjoy the sights, snap a picture of the bridge and get ready to explore other unique views from within the river valley. The Nature Centre is within close walking distance of multiple playgrounds, picnic areas and historic Fort Whoop-Up.

Six Mile Coulee

OUTDOOR ADVENTURE

Lethbridge is all about fresh air! The river valley at the center of the city brings everyone together, outside! So, whether you're cycling, hiking or enjoying a picnic, enjoy the open air!

Captivating Coulees

Our coulees are naturally incredible. Lethbridge has more than 200 km of trails, many of which connect to the coulee parks. Wander the trails, book a picnic shelter (Leisure.Lethbridge.ca), or step up to a scenic viewpoint. Share the birdsong and the breeze with wildlife like deer, beavers, and red-winged black-birds.

Look way up to the High Level Bridge!

Cycling in the City

Lethbridge is full of hidden gems. One of those gems being the incredible bike culture that cycles around our city! From a quiet family ride on Bike Boulevard, or a scenic trail through the coulees, to a course of adrenaline-pumping jumps; Lethbridge has something for everyone!

Some of the best places in the city to ride are the many paved paths and trails we have such as:

Bike Boulevard (7 Ave)

If you're looking for a paved road with trees that canopy over your path, then the bike boulevard is the best place in the city for a peaceful ride. What's even better is that 7th Ave connects to Henderson Park, so you can continue your ride around the city's biggest park.

The Coulees - Six Mile area

Our natural coulees provide some of the most exhilarating and scenic biking opportunities you can find in Lethbridge. Enjoy the unpaved or paved trails, whether you're looking for a peaceful ride in nature or something thrilling, there are more than enough options in this six-mile area.

River Bottom - Botterill Bottom Park

For the mountain bikers and thrill-seekers of Lethbridge, the Botterill Bottom Park is the perfect place to be. With thrilling jumps, rolling hills and enough twists and turns to keep you on your toes, there is always some fun to be had at Botterill Bottom Park.

Cor Van Raay LINK Pathway

The Cor van Raay Link Pathway is a project currently in development. This project, when completed, will span 15 km linking the City of Lethbridge with the Town of Coaldale. This new planned pathway allows you to walk, bike or inline skate between these two urban communities, along the SMRID irrigation canal, enjoying the rural landscape in between.

Arts Days September

Each year, the Allied Arts Council celebrates the importance of local arts in Lethbridge. Held in sync with Alberta Culture Days, the Allied Arts Council, along with AAC members and member organizations run a weeklong series of events at multiple downtown facilities.

Nikka Yuko Winter Light Festival December

As the light fades and the cold winter nights grow long, there is a beacon in the distance to light the path forward to spring. The Nikka Yuko Japanese Garden brings the magic of over 170,000 lights to the Garden. Come and wander through beautiful displays of lights and colours. You'll soon understand why visitors keep coming back.

AGRI-FOOD HUB & TRADE CENTRE LETHBRIDGE & DISTRICT EXHIBITION

A new era for Lethbridge begins this summer as the Agri-food Hub & Trade Centre throws open its doors. The 268,000-square-foot facility will become an economic driver of Alberta's food sector and a home where guests will come to celebrate and connect in Lethbridge. With multiple trade halls, salon rooms, and meeting areas, the Agri-food Hub & Trade Centre can showcase Lethbridge and bring in world-class events like never before.

Lethbridge is in the heart of a rich agricultural community, Canada's best-growing conditions, and world-class food producers and growers – all located within Canada's Premier Food Corridor, which will help to attract agriculture-based events to the region.

Lethbridge & District Exhibition is also home to some of Southern Alberta's largest events, including Whoop-Up Days, which traces its roots all the way back to 1897.

Signature Events

AG Expo and North American Seed Fair

Each year Ag Expo, one of Western Canada's largest agriculture shows, arrives to kick off the agricultural year. Ag Expo welcomes thousands of visitors to Southern Alberta to experience the latest farming equipment, innovative industry technology, irrigation systems, livestock supplies, chemicals, seeds and more, showcasing products and services that directly affect, and improve, agricultural production. Lethbridge Farmers' Markets

The Lethbridge Farmers' Market is where the community comes together. Showcasing products made, baked and grown right here in Alberta, Lethbridge's only Alberta-Approved farmers' market brings in more than 57,000 visitors annually. The Saturday market at Lethbridge & District Exhibition runs from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. from June 10 to Oct. 14.

The open-air downtown market is in Festival Square on Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. from July 5 to Sept. 6.

Whoop-Up Days

Whoop-Up Days is where Southern Albertans come together to celebrate, experience, eat, laugh, and ride; where the midway lights brighten up the southern sky; where cultures come together, and memories are made. Whoop-Up Days runs from Aug. 22 to 26, and gate admission to Whoop-Up Days is entirely free. This year's fair features the annual parade, a midway, a marketplace, live entertainment, great food options and much more. WhoopUpDays.ca

Lethbridge & District Pro Rodeo

Experience the west at the Lethbridge & District Pro Rodeo. Lethbridge & District Exhibition is proud to once again host the Lethbridge & District Pro Rodeo from Aug. 24 to 26. This three-day CPRA rodeo showcases Southern Alberta's history, people and culture. Also returning are the Warrior Relay Races, a thrilling display of speed, agility, and horsemanship, where bareback riders leap from one galloping horse to another in a frenzied race to the finish line.
